COMMUNITY Conversations

Are you fluent in a foreign language, and looking to help others?

OR, would you like to practice speaking another language you have been studying?

*Join a Community
Conversation near you!*

The Costa Rica Multilingüe Foundation's Community Conversations initiative creates conversation groups in foreign languages led by volunteers who are native speakers. The groups meet each week to give language learners a chance to improve their speaking and listening skills, free of charge, as well as their cultural knowledge – and to strengthen ties between Costa Rica and its expatriate community. Volunteers are also needed to read to children and lead other activities in our Language Corners (foreign-language sections donated to public libraries), and to serve as Neighborhood Coordinators.

VOLUNTEERS: Any native speaker of English, or another foreign language, living in Costa Rica and willing to commit 1.5 hours per week. No teaching experience required.

PARTNERS: Anyone over 18 with at least an intermediate level of the language they wish to practice.
